WHITE COLUMNS

EDITORS — CAROLYN CADLE and JOE SHIPES

ADVISOR — PROFESSOR KEITH COWLING.

DEDICATION

We, the students of Augusta College, dedicate our 1961 WHITE COLUMNS to Mr. Charles Guy Cordle. Mr. Cordle, please accept this dedication as a symbol of our lasting appreciation. Your inspired teaching and many other services to us and our school have made you not only a part of Augusta College, but of Augusta College's history as well.

AUGUSTA COLLEGE

The history of Augusta College is like that of any school established over a period of years in so far as facts and dates are concerned; but there the similarity ends. Our history is unique in that it represents people—their interests, efforts, and results. This fact was first demonstrated in 1910. Realizing the values in further instruction for residents of this area, the Richmond County Board of Education added one year of college curriculum to the four-year high school, the Academy of Richmond County. This addition was just the starting point for people who understood the meaning and application of progress. Fifteen years later another year of college work was added and in 1925 the Junior College of Augusta was officially founded. Classes began in the school session of 1926-27 and were held in the new Academy building. The new Junior College was given accreditation which it has maintained to the present. The people of Augusta were constantly seeking the betterment of their Junior College. When in 1955 the historical Augusta Arsenal closed; the Board of Education applied for a property deed, in two years' time receiving 4,463 acres of land and thirty-four buildings. Also in 1957 the Board sought entrance for the Junior College of Augusta into the University System of Georgia. This meant the school would become a state-supported institution presided over by the Board of Regents. With the approval of its entrance in 1958 the name of the school was formally changed to Augusta College. Augusta College acquired more property in 1959 and added extension work of the Augusta Center of the University of Georgia to its curriculum. Renovation of the newly-accquired property for a completely new campus began in the spring of 1960. Upon its completion in the fall of that year classes officially opened in Augusta College's new home. People have made our school; and it is to these people—from draftsman to dean, from painter to president—that we owe our gratitude for a school in which we are able to take pride.

Sallie Palmer, an art student, recaptures the beauties of Spring on canvas.

AUGUSTA COLLEGE CAMPUS, always beautiful, is at its best in the Spring. The lovely colors of wisteria, azaleas, mingle with the dogwood trees, the grey Spanish moss and verdant green of the lawns.

THAT HANGS ON THE BOUGH''

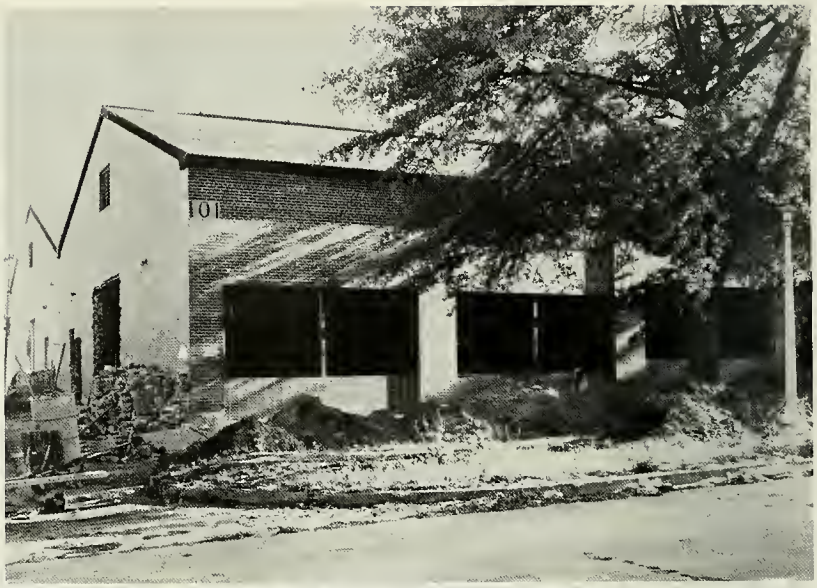
Where sentinels once guarded
Thy armaments of yore,
Now aged oaks sublimely
Bespeak a lofty lore.

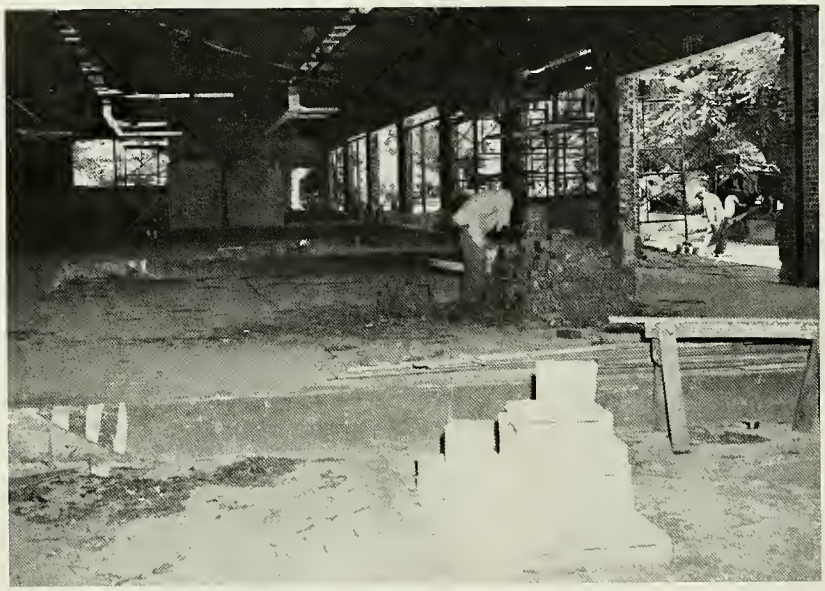
All Hail, Augusta College!
Our voices now we raise
To give thee, Alma Mater,
Our fervent love and praise.

REBUILDING

Whilst Nature was making the campus beautiful, Man also was preparing to add to the architectural beauty of the College.

Spring and Summer 1960 saw many alterations to the buildings. Here are some of them being made.





Pictures on later pages, taken from approximately the same vantage point, will show how the College looked at the beginning of the Fall Quarter.

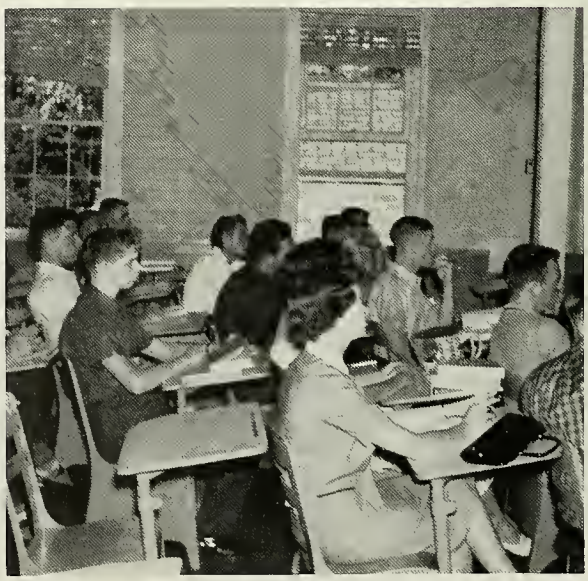
SUMMER'S HERE

Cars packed with students drive out of Gate No. 5.

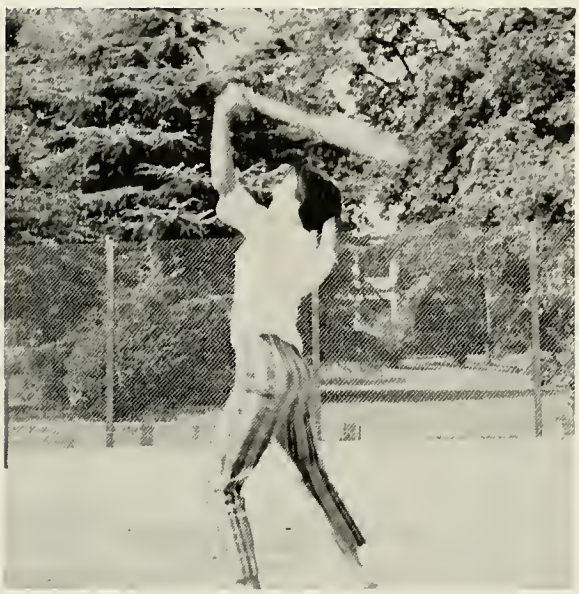
Some students linger on the emptying campus discussing their plans for summer.



Some will return to college within a few days to attend Summer School.

SCHOOL'S OUT!

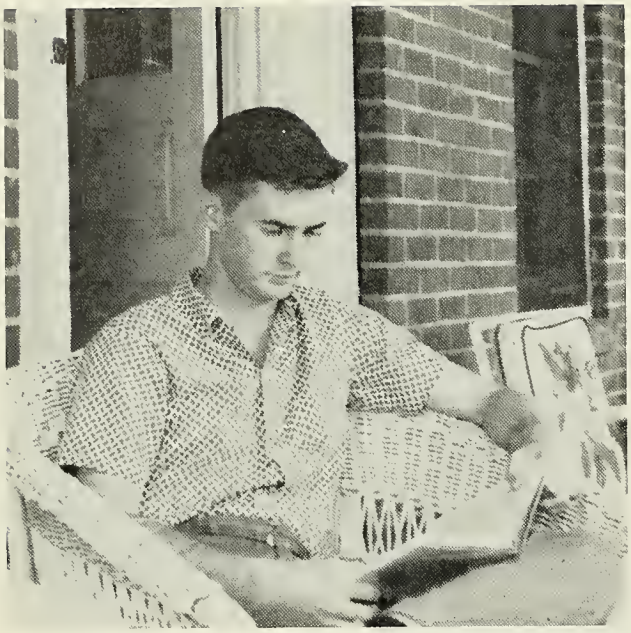
Those not attending Summer School will partake in summer sports and pastimes.



Tennis is always extremely popular.

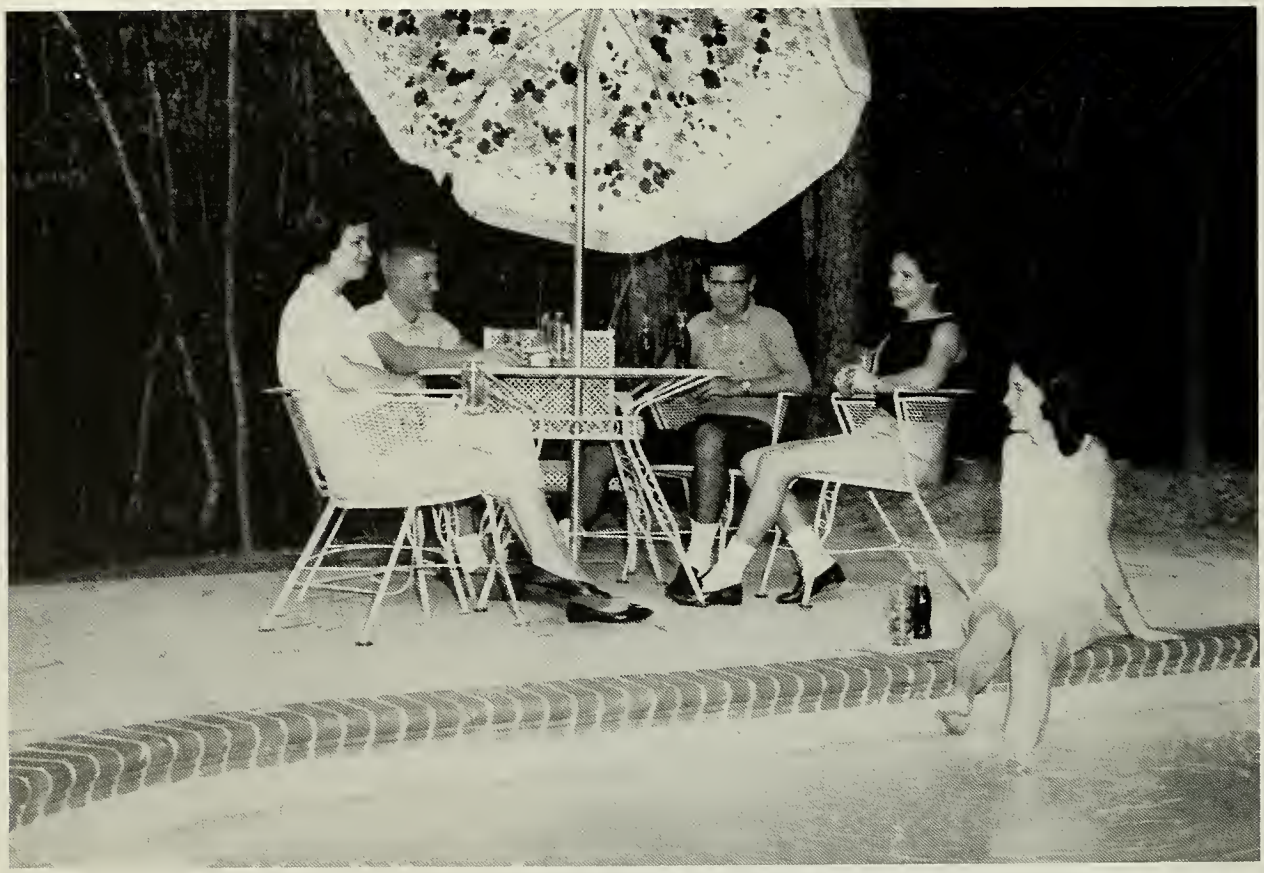
Henry leaps over the net after winning a set.

SUMMER



There are those who spend the summer studying at home.

Others get out on the beach to watch the sea and the pretty girls.



The "Sociables" take the pause that refreshes!

ACTIVITIES

Many cool off in the local pools.

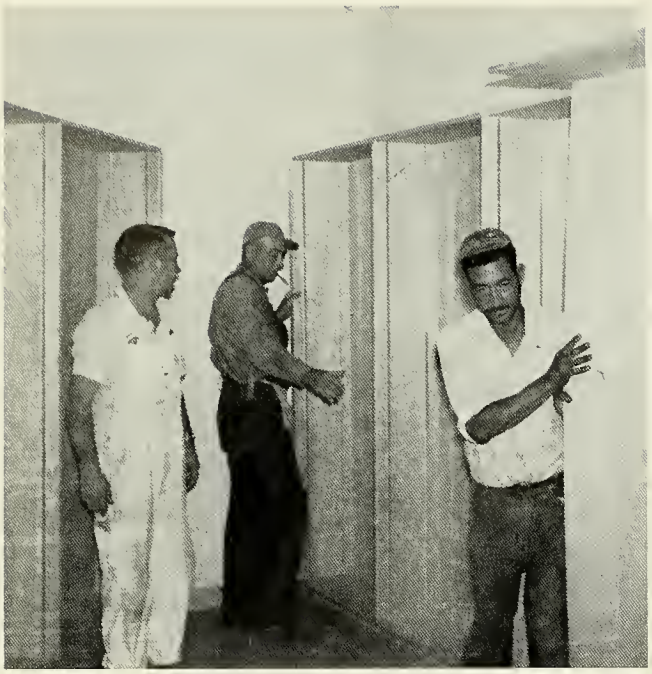
The rest laze around all summer.

"He flies thro' the air with the greatest of ease!"

FALL 1960

As the new school year was about to begin, frantic efforts were made to complete all the new buildings.

Some were not opened until the first few weeks of the quarter had elapsed.



Workmen put the finishing touches to the new classrooms.

The work concluded, the lab is swept and tidied in preparation——for the final inspection by the Administrators.

During the summer vacation the Library looked like this.

The Library Staff transfers volumes to the New Library.

THE NEW LIBRARY

Augusta College Library opened in the new building during the first week of the Fall Quarter, 1960. It provides the student body with all the most modern library facilities and ample room for studying.

BACK TO SCHOOL

FALL 1960

As the New Book Store was not ready at the opening of school, a temporary store operated in Belle Vue Hall.

Here are the new students lining up to get their books.

Classes meet instructors in the old buildings on the first day.

Crooning seems to be popular (?) at the "Get-Acquainted" Dance.

During half-time Don gives his team a pep talk.

The winning team is congratulated at the end of the game.

AUGUSTA COLLEGE FAIR EXHIBIT

Joan Cauvin is interviewed for the radio at the Exchange Club Fair. The Exchange Club gave Augusta College the space for an exhibit.

THE HALLOWEEN DANCE

was held at the College on Nov. 28. A large number of students attended in costume. The following day, a party of these students were invited to appear on WJBF TV TOP-TEN DANCE PARTY. Those taking part had a very enjoyable time, many winning prizes, and those watching the program found it delightfully amusing.

CHRISTMAS 1960.

THE COLLEGE CHOIR

This year the college has a very fine choir. They have taken part in numerous programs at the college as well as in the city of Augusta. Everywhere the choir has been well received and many compliments have been handed to them. The week before Christmas they entertained the rest of the students in the Student Centre by singing a program of carols.

The Carol Service. The College choir and their conductor, Dr. Preston Rockholt.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas festivities took many different forms. Students attended many parties and dances, these ranged from informal "hops" in the Student Centre to highly formal private dinner parties.

Whether at a formal party or informally, A. C. students always manage to have a good time.

1861 — 1961

One hundred years ago on January 24th, 1861, the Federal Arsenal (our present campus) was surrendered to the "Independent Republic of Georgia." The troops were the "Augusta Volunteers"; and the State Flag was a white field with a lone red star. The surrender was accomplished without bloodshed at 3:00 p.m. on that day. On January 24th, 1961, Augusta College commemorated this event with a flag-raising ceremony—the new (50 star) United States Flag and the Georgia Flag. Preceding the raising of the flags, Dr. Robins read an account of the surrender from Mrs. Florence Fleming Corley's book, "Confederate City—Augusta, Georgia." (Mr. Cordle of Augusta College's faculty aided Mrs. Corley in research on the book.) A salute was fired from the campus Civil War Cannon; and the flags went up as the ARC Band played "Dixie." The Centennial Observance marked the first occasion in Augusta College's history on which the state and national flags have flown together; and the first occasion in one hundred years on which the Georgia Flag has flown over our campus.

Dr. Gerald B. Robins, president of Augusta College, making his speech at the Centennial Ceremony.
